LEON DEMOCRATS LAUNCH FIRST WEBSITE

www.LeonDems.com one of many recent initiatives to increase local Democratic participation.

TALLAHASSEE, FL—As one of many recent initiatives to galvanize local Democrats, Leon County Democratic Executive Committee Chair Rick Minor announced the launch of the first local party website, www.LeonDems.com.

“After only two short months, I’m proud to announce that, for the first time, local Democrats have their own website: www.LeonDems.com,” said Chair Minor. “Launching our own website shows our professionalism to local voters, in addition to demonstrating our commitment to our candidates and Democratic principles.”

The creation of a local party website was immediately embraced by local Democrats and was one of the key components of Minor’s recent campaign for Chair. For the first time, Democrats in Leon County can go online to get information about upcoming events, candidate appearances, and membership information. The website also features a photo gallery, press releases and daily updated news articles.

“Up-to-date information about Leon Democrats is now available to voters 24 hours a day,” said Leon DEC Vice Chair Monica O’Neal. “We are quickly on the path to building a stronger and more vibrant Democratic Party in Leon County.”

In the coming weeks, other features such as an online contribution page and a historical archive of local area Democratic politics will be added.

“It’s exciting to see how much progress we have made since the beginning of the year,” said Leon DEC member Ted Judd. “With each passing day, Leon County Democrats are more unified, organized and focused on the grassroots efforts that will lead us to victory.”
